The Justice Departments frivolous anti-trust suit and the competitors envious vendetta against Microsoft is pro-longed and frivolous. Microsoft is an innovative firm that should be commended for its success in research and development and marketing. It is an example of American free enterprise all around the world and to condemn its achievements only diminishes what America stands for. It is the choice of the consumers to buy and use the MS software and government should stay out of its production. Stop wasting taxpayer money and spend it on more serious issues in California and the nation. The Department of Justice and the California State Attorney General should not continue to jeopardize the economy and future of technology.
